Democratic Primary Battle Seen In State If Guffey Remains As Candidate

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—State Democratic leaders converged today on the capital to decide upon a party candidate for United States senator with indications pointing to a primary fight unless Senator Joseph F. Guffey can be induced to withdraw.

Although the full Democratic state committee of 113, which will act as a nominating convention, does not meet until tomorrow, all the issues are expected to be thrashed out and a party candidate selected at this afternoon's meeting of the executive committee and at group conferences that will follow this evening.

Guffey Lacks Majority

It was apparent that Senator Guffey lacked a majority of the votes necessary to obtain the party nomination.

"The majority of the committee feels that Guffey should not make the fight," commented Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, while Luzerne county leader State

Punxsutawney Groundhog Goes Back To His Burrow

(International News Service)

THE WEATHER WORKS, Gobbler's Knob, Punxsutawney, Pa., Feb. 2.—You might as well keep your ear muffs and red flannels on because there's a lot of cold, blustery weather in the making before spring gets here.

So sayeth the peer of weather prognosticators, the Punxsutawney groundhog who, on this traditional day, popped out of his burrow long enough to see his shadow. Rural folklore insists that this means six weeks more of winter.

Usual Ceremony

Business was at a virtual standstill in Punxsutawney this morning while a delegation of prominent civic officials, newspaper reporters and other curious persons checked the woodchuck's forecast at the weather works here.

Dave Hoover, the last member of the little band of local men who inaugurated the annual ceremony 50 years ago, led the delegation. Couriers immediately were sent back to more populous centers advising them of what to expect during the next six weeks.

In Western Pennsylvania, the groundhog's prophecy of more winter weather coincided with a blanket of snow and far-from-comfortable temperatures.

Heavy Fighting Along All Fronts Finland Reports

Terrific Attack Against Mannerheim Line On Carelian Isthmus Revealed

RUSSIANS NOW USE ARMORED SLEDS

Finns Claim Main Attacks By Russian Invaders Have Been Halted

By PETER DE HEMMER GUDME
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HELSINKI Feb. 2—From the Carelian Isthmus to the frozen polar regions heavy fighting proceeded on all Finland's battle fronts today as the Russians pressed forward with a new general offensive.

Along with a terrific attack the Mannerheim line on the Carelian Isthmus, the Soviets hammered at four other fronts—in the far northern Petsamo area and in battle zones along the eastern frontier near Salla, Kuhmo and just north of Lake Ladoga.

Heavy Attacks

In the last-named region the Red army unleashed heavy attacks against Finnish defenses bordering the lake as well as against several islands within the lake itself, including the Matsi fortress where a valiant band of Finns has been holding out against numerically superior forces for weeks.

Meanwhile, at ten minutes after midnight, an air raid alarm was sounded in Helsinki. The all clear signal was given 18 minutes later. No planes were seen.

Finnish authorities claimed that the main assault against the Mannerheim line near Summa had been halted, but said that severe fighting was still continuing there and spreading to other points in the Carelian Isthmus.

(A Moscow war communique said that "nothing of importance occurred at the front" but that Russian planes "reconnoitered and bombed military objectives" and shot down three Finnish planes.)

PA NEWC OBSERVES

While yesterday's weather seemed such that the backbone of the frigid wave had been broken, and the snow of early last night was almost a drizzle, temperature had dropped to near zero again this morning, surprised New Castleites discovered on taking a peek at the thermometer.

Marks of the feet and tail of the shrew, a species of mole, could be plainly seen in the snow, this morning at Gaston Park. The small mammal had travelled quite a distance, and was evidently seeking a soft spot in the earth, protected by leaves, where it might burrow into the earth again.

Owen Fox, forester, has added a male pheasant to his collection at his animal house at Gaston park. Last week-end, the weather being around zero, he saw the bird at one of the park feeding stations, and it looked in a famished condition, quite "wobby" on its feet. Owen used the old fashioned trap, a box, held by a stick, with string attached. With corn beneath the box, the pheasant ventured there to eat, the string was pulled and the bird was trapped. With plenty to eat, and protection from the severe weather, this noble specimen of wild birdlife is getting in fine condition.

Groundhog Out; And Sees Shadow At Gaston Park

Six Weeks More Hard Winter Is Prognostication Of Local Weather Indicator

Seems as if we are to have six weeks more of hard cold weather.

Mr. Groundhog was out this morning, bright and early, from his place of hibernation, in the animal house at Gaston Park.

The groundhog, one of four in the house, was sitting quite comfortably on a pile of straw put in there by Owen Fox for the animals comfort, and had no difficulty in seeng his shadow. So, those prognosticators who have been telling us about the warmer weather "around the corner" have all been knocked "into a cocked hat". This will be good news to the coal man, and those who sell warm clothing.

The other three groundhogs were out Thursday afternoon, took some "eats" and returned to their warm bed. These latter had not been out since going into hibernation last November.

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Feb. 2.—The Dutch parliament today considered a new measure presented by the government designed to prevent any form of foreign control over Dutch manufacturing enterprises.

It was claimed that many Holland manufacturers give out certain statements to foreign powers to obtain orders from these nations.

Government circles consider this practice undesirable for reasons of national economic defense and hence are seeking, through the new bill, to prevent individual tie-ups of this nature with foreign nations.

(International News Service)

LANSDOWNE, Pa., Feb. 2 — Apparently starting in the heating system, fire today destroyed the East Lansdown public school with a loss of $100,000.

Twenty firemen were hurt as they battled the blaze, which levelled the structure and threatened nearby homes. Volunteer fire companies from Lansdowne and nine other nearby communities were called to assist East Lansdowne firemen.

Three firemen were injured when a truck on which they were riding to the scene struck a pole, while two others were taken to Fitzgerald-Mercy hospital, Darby, with their clothing frozen to their skin.

Ernest Straub, 65, East Lansdowne barber, suffered a heart attack when informed that his son, Harry, chief of the East Lansdowne volunteer department, was overcome by smoke and had to be carried from the top floor of the burning building.

No children were in the school as the blaze started. Witnesses said the fire was preceded by a muffled explosion in the basement of the school, which firemen attributed to a heater.

Sales Of Baby Bonds And Money Orders Total $84,506.25 In January

The money order volume and sales of United States Savings Bonds at the New Castle post office registered all-time highs for the office during January, Acting Postmaster William R. Hanna, disclosed this morning.

Sales of the "baby bonds" this January amounted to $84,506.25 as compared with the $54,731.25 figure for January of 1939.

Postal officials, in reporting the spurt in money orders issued compared February of 1939 with January of this year—it was a comparison of the rush of auto licence periods and not a comparison of months. This January, when the heavy volume came, 15,763 money orders were issued—in February last year the total was 14,774. The rush period last year came during that month.

Illinois Wants More Lake Erie Water

New Plea Before Supreme Court

Pennsylvania Ordered To Present Reasons For Objection To Diversion

WOULD REDUCE LEVEL OF WATER

By JOHN PAGET
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—The state justice department today was preparing to answer a U. S. supreme court ruling requiring Pennsylvania to show cause why a plea of the state of Illinois should not be granted to divert an additional 1,560,000 gallons of Lake Michigan water per minute into the Illinois waterway for sanitation and transportation purposes.

Commonwealth officials contend that if more water is diverted into the 185-mile long canal it will lower the level of Lake Erie approximately six inches and endanger shipping on the Great Lakes. The average depth of the lake at present is only 80 feet, they asserted.

Ordered Reduced

Last year, the supreme court ordered the water diversion to be reduced from 4,440,000 gallons to 660,000 gallons per minute and Illinois officials stated in a petition that the reduced flow seriously hampered transportation and disposal of sewage in the canal which runs from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

The 75-year-old controversy flared anew on January 29 when the high court ordered Pennsylvania to answer the show cause ruling by February 26.

Attorney General Claude T. Reno said that the contentions of Illinois were "fairly stated," but gave no hint of Pennsylvania's stand.

"I cannot say what our attitude will be," said Reno, "pending consideration of the problem."

He added that the matter was before Gov. Arthur H. James for study "and until the governor passes upon it we will have to hold further statements in abeyance."

The governor refused comment because he hadn't "fully studied the situation".

Deputy Attorney General William S. Rial, who appeared before the supreme court in behalf of the commonwealth, said that lowering the Lake Erie level would seriously affect Erie harbor, Pennsylvania's only lake port. He pointed out that the harbor channels are so shallow now they require continuous dredging.

PUNXSUTAWNEY GROUNDHOG GOES BACK IN HIS HOLE

ing he would rather trust a government observer with a forecast than "that Quarryville Squeal Pig."

"He (the Squeal Pig) doesn't know there's a war going on in Europe, so how could he know what's coming up, in the weather line, for the next six weeks," the Punxsutawney prophet was quoted as saying.

After that, it was back to the burrow and six more weeks of hibernating.

At Quarryville

Quarryville, Pa., Feb. 2.—Under cloudy skies, the faithful of slumbering Groundhog Lodge made their annual exodus into the Swamp Hollow country today to seek the weather prediction of be'er woodchuck for the next six weeks.

Clad in top hats and nightshirts, members of the 36-year-old faternal order braved snow flurres and freezing temperatures, undaunted by scoffers and false prophets, to learn the forecast of "the Solomon of all quadrupeds."

The heavy cloud-laden skies gave fair promise that Sir Woodchuck would emerge from his wintry hideout, look around for his shadow and not find it.

If such proves to be the case, then according to tradition, spring is just around the corner, and winter is over. But, if Herr Grunsow sees his shadow, don't take off that winter underwear for another six weeks because there'll be that much more blustering wintry weather.

In Quarryville it was to be a day of festive celebration, whether Mr. Groundhog crawls back in his hole for six more weeks of slumber or whether he sheds his winter coat for a new spring suit.

While the faithful lodge members marched into the hills back in Quarryville the wives and mothers and sisters prepared a huge feast. All business places were closed and a varied program of parading, musical entertainment, and testimonial speeches was prepared.

Excerpt Made Public

Bigelow made public the following brief excerpt from the former kaiser's letter:

"The magnificent stand of the Finns has smashed the nimbus of bolshevism and set people thinking—with the result of the wish for peace is gaining ground.

"The belligerents should stop fighting and join forces to help the Finns. They should fight in one line and rid the world and civilization of bolshevism."

Informed that General Von Dommes, representative of the former kaiser in Berlin, doubted that Wilhelm penned the revealed excerpt, Bigelow through a spokesman declined comment.

Bigelow declined to state whether or not Wilhelm in his letter had expressed his views on Chancellor Hitler.

Bigelow made public the kaiser's words on the eve of his departure tomorrow for Italy on the Conte Di Savoia. The historian said he plans to have a chat with Premier Mussolini in Rome and go from there to Weisbaden, Germany, for the baths. If the state department relents and gives him permission to visit Holland, he hopes to pay his annual visit to the former kaiser at Doorn, he said.

HEAVY FIGHTING ALONG ALL FRONTS FINLAND REPORTS

sector of the Mannerheim line was preceded by a six-hour artillery barrage, after which the actual attack got under way, supported by 130 bombing planes.

Russian tanks led the way, pushing large armored sleds before them, the sleds being armed with machine guns.

Behand these came the Soviet infantry, under cover of a smoke screen, but despite the extent of the attack, Finnish authorities said the main assault had been turned back and that fighting was continuing in No Man's Land.

They added that a majority of the 15 Russian artillery batteries supporting the attack had been silenced by Finnish guns and that at other points on the Isthmus Finnish batteries had dispersed a Red troop column, destroyed two tanks, shot down a Soviet plane and wrecked two Russian observation posts.

Use Armored Sleds

The Russian offensive on the Carelian Isthmus was the largest yet launched against the Mannerheim line.

Today the Russians were still using armored sleds in an effort to crack the Finnish defenses. Lines of heavy tanks also advanced against the Finnish center, while light Russian tanks, sending out smoke screens, advanced against the Finnish flanks.

But the Red army troops met a withering machine gun and artillery fire which forced them to turn back. Many of the Russian tanks were destroyed by Finnish mines. At some points the fiercest type of hand-to-hand fighting developed.

The Russians also carried out air raids against northern Finland, killing 20 Finnish civilians and wounding 40. Kemi was bombed extensively and communications there were paralyzed.

Soviet aircraft also raided Abo, Kotka, Hangow and Rovaniemi. It appeared that many fires were started at Rovaniemi and that telephone connections there were wrecked. The town was evacuated.

Kemijaervi, further west, also was bombed and set on fire.

DEMOCRATIC BATTLE IN PRIMARY UNLESS GUFFEY WITHDRAWS

Sen. Leo C. Mundy predicted that Guffey would not secure more than 36 votes.

It was also apparent that party leaders were no more prepared this year to accept Guffey's dictum than they had been last year, when the Pittsburgher bolted the organization in an unsuccessful effort to nominate his own slate with the aid of the C. I. O. Organization leaders have never forgiven him for this.

If Guffey refuses to withdraw—and there is nothing yet to indicate that he will—the organization apparently is ready to endorse its own candidate and fight it out with Guffey in the primary.

Either John B. Kelly, Philadelphia city chairman, or Auditor General Warren R. Roberts appeared to stand the best chance of obtaining the party's endorsement.

Think Pedestrians Should Also Obey Traffic Signals

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2. — The Pennsylvania Motor Federation (AAA) today reported rapidly increasing public sentiment in favor of pedestrians to obey stop-and-go signals and other traffic directions. The trend, the federation explained, is the "logical result of the mounting frequency with which pedestrians figure in traffic accidents in urban communities".

The federation emphasized that considerable progress is being made nationally, and particularly in Pennsylvania, in reducing traffic accidents and fatalities primarily caused by motorists. Similar progress, however, has not been made in curbing accidents for which pedestrians are mainly responsible.

BUT 9,379,000 STILL NEED JOBS

THE American Federation of Labor's report that employment last month reached the highest figure for any December in the past six years is a hopeful indication that progress is being made in getting the country back to work.

According to the AFL, 1,357,000 more persons were gainfully employed in December, 1939, than in the same period in 1938. This means that enough jobs have been provided to take care of the 550,000 new employables added to the population during the year and to give work to about 800,000 unemployed.

But, encouraging as it is to know that employment is on the rise, the AFL's estimate that at the end of December there were still 9,379,000 Americans without jobs is a tacit warning that we have a considerable way to go before we can boast that we have solved our No. 1 problem, unemployment.

The surest way to provide more jobs is to coax hoarded capital out of hiding. Primary incentives to the investment of more money in productive businesses are freedom from labor troubles, reduction of tax burdens and easing of governmental restrictions. Congress ought to keep these three essentials constantly in mind in order to set up the conditions under which the country's 9,379,000 unemployed may get jobs.

DAVIS CUP CONTEST AWAITS PEACE

Under the rules governing the competition, the United States or any other nation has the right, despite the war, to challenge Australia for the Davis Cup this year. In foregoing this right the United States Lawn Tennis Association is doing the proper and sporting thing.

When the Australian team won the cup last fall, as the Empire faced war once again, history was repeating. The World War erupted when an earlier team of Aussies was gaining the trophy, and the United States was to let it go uncontested for six years. Then the two Bills, Tilden and Johnston, brought the cup back to America.

Tennis fans won't be alone in hoping that the next challenge round will not have to wait six years this time, because of war.

BORAH'S SUCCESSOR

By appointing former United States Senator John W. Thomas, instead of Mrs. Borah, to succeed the late William E. Borah, Governor Bottolfsen of Idaho has checked a practice which was threatening to become a tradition.

Although there may be exceptions, most of the widows who have been named to posts left vacant by the death of their husbands owe their selection to sentiment rather than public interest. Sometimes it is financial need that prompts the appointment; sometimes it is the halo that surrounds the name.

The new senator has already pledged himself to fight for Borah's chief policy—isolation, with emphasis on keeping the United States out of war.

BIG PLANE ORDER

If Britain and France order six thousand to eight thousand bombing planes in American markets at a cost exceeding a billion dollars, it will be an acid test for American industry as geared for war production.

Such a demand, in addition to the $700,000,000 of forward business which the aircraft industry is now struggling to fill, would call upon other industries in addition to the one devoted to aircraft manufacture. Particularly new machinery adapted to the output of various airplane parts would be in demand. Lumber, metals, fabrics, chemicals, plastics and other materials would be required in large volume together with added floor space for the factories.

This program would measurably stimulate what is called heavy industry. The need of that stimulation has long been emphasized as an essential to recovery. But the merit of a heavy industry based upon foreign war demand is subject, of course, to grave doubts. The rumored order from the Allies would require a coordination of American industry which undoubtedly would go far toward proving this country's economic preparation for war. But whether it would do anything to help the country to a substantial recovery is questionable.

After the temporary demand had been met, there would be nothing left to tie to.

COLD WEATHER FIRES

Firemen find that one reason for winter fires is the attempt to get heat for sub-zero weather out of a furnace that has capacity only for warmer weather.

The occupant of a house in most cases cannot be blamed for overheating his furnace when it does not have the capacity to heat in severe weather without too much draft. The damage in such cases has already been done—when the furnace was installed.

There is no doubt that many houses are heated with furnaces of too small capacity. The desire to keep down the cost of heating equipment causes property owners to skimp, and the result is sometimes loss of the property. Even if the result is not so disastrous, there are usually higher coal bills than necessary because of the necessity of pushing the furnace to get the needed heat.

Good heating engineers offer the chief cure for such an evil, but a real difficulty is that dealers in heating equipment too often sell a low capacity furnace or stove in order to compete with others who will do the same thing to get the business.

Another cause of many fires is forgetting to close furnace drafts after firing. Overheated furnaces often cause fires due to this reason after the occupants of the house have gone to visit friends, or have gone to bed. Heating stoves are also forgotten with similar results.

Good memories and good sense in installation of heating equipment would probably prevent most of the fires caused by overheating of equipment. Their lack is probably responsible for almost all cold weather fires.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ERRORS IN PAYING CHILDREN

A mother writes:

"How can a girl, ten years old, earn money? The other girls of the neighborhood are paid for whatever work they do in the home. Must we do likewise? Does that lead to democracy?"

The child who earns money outside the home, as from carrying newspapers, may derive an excellent education in responsibility for earning and handling money. But there are very, very few such jobs for children, and these jobs are growing fewer.

Many parents who still think in terms of pioneer days will harp about the need of the child's earning the money he spends. They forget that our social and economic system has changed.

Paid For Helping

Still very sure the child should earn the money he spends, many parents set about to put him on wages in the home, paying him for being a helping member of the family—for washing dishes, sweeping and tidying the rooms, hanging up his own hat and coat, practicing his music lesson, even eating his spinach. Generally, the child gets paid, however grudgingly, whether he does the work or not, often being nagged or punished for not "earning" it.

It is true that some parents have succeeded in working out such home employment schemes pretty smoothly. I would even concede that for some few homes it might be better than a system of allowances. But for most homes it is a very undesirable plan.

To most children it must appear as a way for the parents to kid themselves that the child is earning his spending money. Besides, the child, under this plan, must have the feeling that he has no family obligations except those contracted for in wages and paid for. Then his interest in sharing in the home duties must be very selfish—no pay, no work.

Mother Isn't Paid

I can't quite see how a child is to gain a healthy, wholesome feeling of obligation in his family if he is to be paid for everything he does there, or even for most he does. Does the mother get "so much money" for bathing the baby or taking a splinter from the toddler's finger? Is she paid for answering all her children's questions, listening to their tales of grief or joy, cooking their food, making their beds, washing and ironing their clothes, caring for them in sickness?

Purposely my own children were never paid for regular duties about the home. They were, however, occasionally paid for irregular and unexpected jobs, especially when they were trying hard to accumulate a savings for a definite purchase planned over a long period. They operated on a budget and allowance. Now at the respective ages of 25, 23, 17, they probably will tell you that they have in mind a similar plan for their own children. And I must say for them that they certainly do share, cheerfully, in the responsibilities of our home.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. When should a baby begin to feed himself?

A. As soon as he shows readiness to do so. When he wishes to help carry the spoon of food to his mouth, encourage his co-operation. The average baby on his first birthday may be able to eat such foods as carrot mash, beet mash, potato mash, etc., alone. Place a very small portion of one food before him but no liquid. Put a spoon beside the food. Let him alone. If he gets down with his mouth to the food and uses his bare hands, very well. He's making great progress. At a later meal encourage him to use the spoon but do not insist. If after using the spoon a few minutes he indicates fatigue, help him. But end the meal as soon as he indicates that he wants no more. Later he will learn to eat semi-liquids with a spoon.

Q. What is the best cure for lying and stealing by the young child?

A. Abundant parental love and understanding.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:17. Sun rises tomorrow 7:10.

When a man takes your word for it, he figures it's about all the security you've got.

It may be that people who are forever growling may have inherited the habit from their forbears.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

"I am going to tell the boss you were peeking through his keyhole and get you fired," fumed the bookkeeper.

And the office boy snapped back: "G'wan. I'm going to tell him what I saw while peeping—and get a raise in pay."

"Right here," he said, pointing at a house, "but I rang the doorbell and nobody answered."

"How long ago was that?" asked the cop.

"Oh, a couple o' hours."

"Well, why don't you try again?"

"Aw, to heck with 'em—let 'em wait."

GETTING THROUGH

A friend of ours whom we always had figured to be very temperate soul was seen coming out of a liquor store the other evening.

"Yes, I often find that a quart of wine is a great help when you want to get through work," he confessed. "I frequently find it of great assistance when I have a flock of letters to write in the evening."

"Do you mean to say a bottle of wine really helps you write those letters?" he was asked.

"Not exactly," was the answer. "But after a bottle of wine I don't care a hang whether I answer them or not."

About all a woman finds when she explores her husband's pockets at night these days is enough material for a lecture.

Lepers are the only people in the world who cannot be identified by fingerprints. The ailment changes the papillary pattern. Approximately three million lepers are living in the world today but less than 2 percent of them are in leprosariums. The only leper colony in the United States is at the United States Marine Hospital, Carville, Louisiana. Leprosy germs and tuberculosis germs are very similar and the same methods of treatment are employed. Chaulmoogra oil, which comes from the fruits of a tree found in India, is the most valuable aid in leprosy treatment. It was first used by direct application but physicians have found it more effective when administered by hypodermic.

These hints I have been giving about camouflaging physical defects are pulling an enormous amount of mail and today come letters from a flock of girls with the too-skinny complex. I am advising them to avoid straight-line effects and dresses made along lines that have angles; also very narrow skirts; short, tight, raglan sleeves; hats with high crowns or with wings or quills or flowers standing up from the crowns; also high coiffures. I am telling them to adopt: Bolero jackets, extending slightly below the waistline, puffed sleeves, materials that stand out from the figure, such as taffeta; horizontal designs, narrow coat collars; broken rather than long, clinging lines; long-haired furs of light colors, hats with low crowns.

Readers' Questions Answered

Dear Miss Markel: My husband died recently. During his long illness and at the time of his death a great many of my friends and acquaintances called on me. Must I now return their calls?—Widow.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

Tomorrow—Your Laugh.

JUST DIDN'T DO A THING

There is a fault that most of us would do well to correct;
It is the thing we do not do and it is called "neglect."
We put off till tomorrow what should be done today
And with tomorrow we have more excuses for delay.

That letter that we should have sent back home the other day,
Still waiting to be finished and started on its way;
The call upon the sick or troubled
one we meant to make,
And many, many other things too numerous to relate.

Conscience tells us that we should sometimes our voices raise
To right a wrong, or give encouragement or praise,
But to this creeping lethargy so tightly do we cling
And after all—it seems we just didn't do a thing.

Let us be determined before the day is through
That we'll all accomplish the things that we should do;
And let us from our text books that ugly word eject
And from our lives blot out this enemy "neglect."

Intriguing are the mutations of time. Girls in male trousers bring to mind the earlier bloomer. To give the transition a melodramatic touch the title could be, "From Bags to Britches."

Air raids did not start in the world war. The first air raid was staged in December, 1913, in Morocco. The plan failed to kill very many Moors but an idea was born.

You don't fool kids much. Two little girls were playing the thrilling game of "pretend." One pretended she was the daddy, the other the mother, with the offspring represented by an assorted group of dolls.

"When we don't want to do anything," they agreed, "we'll say, 'I'm too tired; you do it'."

Japan says she must do something desperate if we stop trading with her, and it will be our fault. It seems we wrong her when we resent being kicked around.

What's What At A Glance

It Is Japan Against The World
Nippon Militarists Give Views
Samurai Must Have Wings Clipped

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—So far as Uncle Sam's state department and American army and navy men can see, Japan's militarists are bent on a policy versus nearly all the rest of the world—not only China, then the United States and presently Great Britain, but ultimately practically the whole globe.

Experts draw their conclusions from the Jap army's latest, recently published annual survey of the mikado's international problems, as the islanders' hereditary fighting class (the Samurai) sizes them up.

The thing at least is candid. "We must admit," it says outspokenly, "that there is a tendency toward increasing friction between Japan and America in the future." The survey isn't governmentally official. On the contrary, it appears at a juncture when Tokio's civilian diplomacy undoubtedly is trying to improve Nippon's relations with Washington. However, it's all the more significant of the Samurai's indifference to what their more civilized statesmanship considers best.

And it's well recognized that the Jap militarists go ahead and fight, whenever they feel like it, regardless of the rest of their country's preferences. Nor do they care a cent's worth for odds against them. When they think it necessary they're a suicidal bunch. Maybe they could be overthrown by a revolution, but it's pretty hard for an unorganized revolt, even if it represents a big majority, to upset so solid an armed group.

Who'll Smash Samurai?

In short, if the Samurai are to be licked, it's the consensus of western expert opinion that they'll have to be licked (in fact exterminated) from outside.

Besides the United States, the Jap army summary takes a crack at Great Britain also. It speaks of British "hostility" to the mikado in the Far East, and warns that Japan always must be "watchful" of John Bull's attitude in the Orient.

France is described as "dangerous" because of Gallic Indo-China.

Russia isn't dealt with in an overly friendly way. At the moment Tokio and Moscow are on semi-amicable terms, but the survey remarks that the two governments are traditional enemies, that there was actual fighting between Japs and Russians a few weeks ago, and that Stalin may turn his attention to the east again as soon as he's less preoccupied in Finland and elsewhere in the west.

To sum up, according to the review:

1—Japan is at undeclared war in China now.

2—Japan reckons on war with the United States, and on war with Great Britain and with France as soon as their hands are free in Europe.

3—Japan is suspicious of Russia.

Eye Philippines

4—Japan plans to grab the Dutch Indies and the Philippines. It may have an eye on India.

The survey doesn't say anything about Germany and Italy, but it doesn't say anything GOOD about them either. Parenthetically, the Japs took the kaiser's Chinese settlement of Kiao Chau away from him in the last war.

Collectively, the Samurai bite off a large mouthful:

Prospectively, war with China, war with the United States, Britain and France, complicated with Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines and the Dutch (who don't count much separately). Likewise, what about Russia?

Well, that's what the Samurai ambitiously imply.

Japan is different from Russia.

The Russians are quitters. Little Japan licked 'em a generation ago. Tiny Finland has had 'em on the run.

But you can't lick a Samurai until he's DEAD.

So when the Samurai issue an "annual survey" I think the thing's worth noticing. A homicidal maniac is cuckoo, but he isn't to be disregarded.

Sleeps long and wakes,
Which friend and foe
Believe they see
And claim to know
As you and me?

What jests, what sings,
And laughs and cries?
Does gracious things,
And hurt defies
What is it all
We now discuss
And oft recall
When mentioning "us"?

Is it the clay
That speaks the creed,
Or thinks to play
The friend in need?
What's in command
When choice is made?
What prompts the hand
To carry aid?

The mind obey.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT
by The Baltimore Sun
(Copyright, 1940)

Entitled To Know

Washington, Feb. 2.

UNLESS there comes a clarifying statement from Mr. Roosevelt within the next few days, the Democratic National Committee, which meets here on Monday, will face a party situation unparalleled in politics. The committee is composed of 1 man and 1 woman from each of the 48 states—96 in all.

MOST of them are party leaders in their respective States. The primary purpose of the gathering is to select a date for the national convention. But the question of whether Mr. Roosevelt is trying to secure another nomination will be uppermost in the minds of them all. It is important to them that they know. And if Mr. Roosevelt maintains his riddle pose, out of which he is getting such fun, throughout the stay of these party figures, he will have to do considerable squirming.

BECAUSE it is the purpose of a number of these committee men and women to put it as squarely up to the President personally, when they individually call on him—and many will—as they know how. It would be unnatural for those who see Mr. Roosevelt not to ask the question. And it will be much more difficult for him to be evasive and mysterious with them, without conveying a definite impression, than at his press conferences where the question is asked for publication and he always has a tremendous advantage.

MOREOVER, these men and women have a distinct right to ask and to know. This riddle business isn't funny to them; it is getting acutely embarrassing and is interfering with effective party politics. They not only are tired of being "mystified," but they are pained at the mystification. Moreover, most of them see no sense in prolonging it and are baffled at the sort of game being played. It was all right to be a riddle for a while, but the time approaches now when they think they are entitled to the answer. Some of these committee members are for Mr. Roosevelt's renomination, because of well-understood personal and political reasons. Others are for him on the surface, but not at heart, and there are others—probably a third of the whole—strongly opposed to him. These either favor one or another of the various aspirants or are just anti-New Deal and anti-Roosevelt.

THE committeemen know perfectly well that the third-term movement is being managed by the brain trusters, Mr. Thomas Corcoran, who is personally very close to the President and unlikely to do anything of which he disapproves. Associated with Mr. Corcoran and shouting louding for a third term are jobholders such as Mr. Ickes and Mr. Wallace, neither of whom are Democrats, and such politicians as Mayor

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE DIFFERENCE

Smaller cities, like New Castle, are always more interested in cultural endeavors than big cities.

When a big city high school puts on a show the star performer is usually some insufferable brat who is a tap-dancer.

In a smaller city the entertainment is in the form of good music or something like that.

Small town folk read all the important books, listen to the better radio programs and turn out in droves when persons of some cultural importance come to town.

There are people in these bright, up-to-the-minute smaller cities who sincerely believe that Thomas A. Edison was a greater man than Eddie Cantor. They don't fool easily, either.

These people will listen politely to Dorothy Thompson or read her column and wonder how a person so obviously intelligent can enjoy going around the world stirring up hatred.

Income Of State Farmers From Farm Products In Past Year Is $264,239,000

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—The income of farmers from marketings of farm products last year increased one per cent in Pennsylvania, exactly equivalent to the gain in such income recorded in the country as a whole, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics estimated today.

The bureau estimated such income of Pennsylvania farmers at $264,239,000 in 1939. This represented a one per cent increase over the $262,222,000 level for 1938 but remained lower than the income of $286,088,000 in 1937 and $267,636,000 in 1936.

Government payments to Pennsylvania farmers cooperating in the soil conservation program more than doubled last year. Such payments totaled $5,723,000 in 1939 as against $2,757,000 in 1938.

Of the Pennsylvania farm income for 1939, a total of $75,070,000 came from sales of crops and $189,169,000 from sales of livestock and livestock products. In the previous year, $67,799,000 was realized from crops and $194,423,000 from livestock and livestock products. These figures record a gain of income from crops and a drop in income from livestock and livestock products in the state.

Eddie Kelly of Chicago; Frank Hague of New Jersey, and Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, whose personal interests in the Roosevelt candidacy are obvious. On the other hand, they know that the chairman of the National Committee, Mr. Farley, is not for a third nomination. Politically speaking, Mr. Farley means more to these men and women than a hundred of Corcorans and Ickes.

HE is the man who has managed two successful national campaigns. He is the man with whom they have done business for eight years. He talks their language and has their confidence. There is the further fact that Vice-President Garner, Mr. Roosevelt's running mate in two campaigns, believes a third nomination bad, both for the party and for the country. About one-third of the Democrats in the Senate agree with him to the extent of being ready to vote for the Holt anti-third-term resolution if and when it is presented.

CONSIDERING these things, the committee men and women know that talk of "drafting" Mr. Roosevelt is absurd. He can, they think, get the nomination, but only by conniving in the effort of the jobholders to bring about a convention condition where it will be plain that no candidate other than himself can be sure of the Roosevelt support. Clearly, the hope is that the convention, after considering all other availables, will recognize that there is more sentiment for Mr. Roosevelt than all the rest and insist upon nominating him, despite the fact that it would split the party and present the Republicans with a major issue.

HOWEVER, even the most obtuse politician knows that such a renomination can only be brought about if Mr. Roosevelt schemes to bring it about. If, with his National Chairman, his Vice-President, all the leading Democratic newspapers and one-third of the Democratic Senators opposed, Mr. Roosevelt should be renominated, it will be because he has connived and cooperated with the Corcoran-Ickes group. There is no doubt of that. Nor will he be able to conceal it behind a cloak of non-political silence and pretended ignorance of what his intimates are doing.

EITHER the President is acquiescing, which has the effect of connivance, in this movement, or he has made up his mind definitely, as his more clear-headed friends believe, not to run again. Some of these committeemen are determined to find out. Most of them will be in Washington three or four days. A lot of them will call on the President. They will ask him questions. Evasion will be taken—and properly—as indicative of a desire for a third term. In brief, the time has about arrived when the riddle game has got to be given up. Perhaps he will answer it himself before they have time to get at him.

STILL ANOTHER USE FOUND FOR "WONDER DRUG"

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 2 — Hailed as a "wonder drug" for use against pneumonia and many other diseases sulfapyridine now is directed successfully against the ravages of anthrax.

Revelation of the drug's new role was made by Dr. Herman Gold, of Chester hospital, a recognized expert in treatment of anthrax. Of four cases treated at the hospital recently, Dr. Gold said, sulfapyridine effected cures in a third of the time ordinarily required with serum treatment. The drug left no ill effects, he added.

Dr. Gold explained the disease is a contagious, febrile ailment often characterized by carbuncular swellings. Anthrax, he said, is contracted by workers handling raw hides and animal fur.

Wellsboro Cow Has Best Record

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Feb. 2.—Winnie Ormsby Pontiac Finderne, a registered Holstein Fresian cow owned by Roy S. Bowen, of Wellsboro, has the best record for lifetime production of any cow in Pennsylvania, R. R. Welch, dairy extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College, reported today.

"Winnie," in 12 years, has produced 218,868 pounds of milk, or 6,663 pounds butterfat.

The combined lifetime production of Winnie, her daughter, her full sister and her two daughters is 660,839 pounds of milk, or 21,055 pounds butterfat. This amount of milk, placed in shipping cans, would fill 33 railroad cars.

Professor Welch explains that Mr. Bowen owes a great deal of his success to membership in the local dairy herd improvement association and in the bull association. The average annual production per cow in Pennsylvania, Welch estimated, is not over 5,000 pounds of milk or 200 pounds of butterfat, while Bowen's herd has averaged 14,114 pounds of milk or 465 pounds of butterfat per cow per year for the last 11 years.

CLUBS HEAR PROGRAM BY GARTH EDMUNDSON

Junior Woman's club entertained the Senior Woman's club of this locality and the Music Department of the Ellwood City Woman's club in a delightful manner Thursday evening, when they presented Garth Edmundson in a program of music in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, marking one of their outstanding contributions on the new 1940 calendar.

After a short business period in charge of Miss Elizabeth Wallace, Junior Woman's club president, the entertainment was put in the hands of Mrs. E. C. Wiggins, who introduced Mr. Edmundson. She told of his boyhood history, being born in Butler county but moving to New Castle when a lad, where he has since made his home. She related his musical training under Lynwood Farnum, of New York and Harvey Gaul of Pittsburgh, and stated that within the last ten years Mr. Edmundson has had published more than a hundred different compositions. The majority of these are for pipe organ, also include piano, solo voice and choral selections. The guest artist leads the country as a composer of preludes.

Numbers played by Mr. Edmundson, included "Lenten Prelude" by Johann Sebastian Bach; "On Themes From St. Paul" by Felix Mendelssohn, as the opening.

Of his own compositions, he played (a) Prelude on a Chorale of Praetorius; (b) Prelude on a Chorale of Schumann; (c) Prelude on a Choral of Joshepi; (d) Prelude on a Chorale of Bach; (e) Prelude on a Chorale of Luther. Also, "Humoresque Fantastique (Elfin Danse); "Litany Solenne"; "Pax Vobiscum" (Peace Be With You); "Cortege and Fanfare"; "Epiphany" and "Prelude On All Through the Night".

Tea and refreshments in the church social rooms followed, with Mrs. Arthur B. Foster, president of the Senior Woman's club, and Miss Elizabeth Wallace, Junior Woman's president, pouring, from an attractively appointed table. The social committee on arrangements for this feature was headed by Mrs. Arthur Walker and Mrs. John Moore, Miss Ruth Sample and Miss Gertrude Chapin, aides.

Ushering were, Miss Georgiana McNees, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Miss Grace Bell, Mrs. David Nesbitt, Miss Ingelborg Hallgren and Miss Mary McBride.

Five Glass Plants Down Because Of Surprise Walkout

About 2000 Employes Are Affected—Three Plants In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2. — Three glass plants in Southwestern Pennsylvania and two more in West Virginia were closed today by the "surprise walkout" of more than 2,000 employes, who pointed without comment to the fact that their union contract expired Wednesday midnight.

Wage-hour negotiations currently are underway in Cleveland and have been for the past two weeks. Late yesterday, it was indicated by Fred Keightly, labor relations director of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, one of the major companies involved, that the old contract would probably be extended while negotiations were continued.

Plants shut down by the walkout were those of the American Window Glass Company at Arnold, Jeannette and Belle Vernon; and two plants at Clarksburg, W. Va., operated by Fourco Company affiliates, the Adamston Flat Glass Company and the Rolland Glass Company.

Approximately 95 per cent of the nation's window glass industry is represented in the Cleveland conference with the Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America, a CIO affiliate.

THIS IS NO TIME TO TAKE CHANCES WITH COLDS

With Contagious Colds Increasing Take These Precautions For Your Family's Sake and Your Own

Keep out of crowds as much as possible. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat simple food. Drink plenty of water. Keep elimination regular. Don't take needless chances. Don't experiment with untried medications. And be sure to have these two time-tested home-approved treatments on hand, ready to use.

At the First Sign of a Cold

Be ready to help prevent many colds from developing. At the first warning sneeze, sniffle, or irritated feeling in your nose—use Vicks VA-TRO-NOL. Just a few drops up each nostril. Right away you can feel Va-tro-nol stimulating Nature's own cold-fighting defenses. It actually helps to keep many colds from developing—or to throw them off in the early stages.

Also use VA-TRO-NOL for swift relief from the suffocating stuffiness and congestion of a head cold.

If a Cold Develops

(Some colds get by all precautions)

Thoroughly massage throat, chest, and back with Vicks VAPORUB, then spread on a thick layer of VapoRub, cover with a warmed cloth, and go to bed. VapoRub brings wonderful relief and invites restful sleep. Then hour after hour it keeps working—stimulating the skin like a warming poultice, while its medicinal vapors are breathed into the cold-irritated air passages of nose, throat and chest. Often when morning comes, most of the cold's discomforts are gone.

Now Be Prepared—Get a bottle of Vicks VA-TRO-NOL and a jar of Vicks VAPORUB today and take the above precautions. They may save you a lot of sickness and worry.

Support Of C. I. O. Is "Kiss Of Death" To Candidates

So Declares Executive Council Of A. F. Of L. In Convention At Miami

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 2.—Any candidate for president or other public office who "seeks and accepts" the support of John L. Lewis' C. I. O., has received the "kiss of death" and is doomed to defeat, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor announced Thursday in disclosing its political policy regarding the 1940 campaign.

The executive council said the A. F. of L. would exert all its influence to have the Democratic and Republican parties nominate for president men whose outlook is sympathetic to the problems of America's working men and women.

No reference was made to President Roosevelt or to the third term issue in the council's statement. No candidate was specifically endorsed by the A. F. of L.

The executive committee, after a discussion of the 1940 political situation, issued a statement which said in part:

"We are convinced of the truth of these facts:

"1—That no political party and no presidential candidate with a record or a program hostile to organized labor can possibly be victorious.

"2—That no individual can 'deliver' the votes of labor, as was proved in the 1938 elections in Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and other states.

"3—That any candidate for public office who seeks and accepts the support of the CIO and places himself in bondage to its leaders has received the 'kiss of death' and is doomed to certain defeat.

"We wish to emphasize that, in conformity with its traditional policy, the American Federation of Labor in 1940 will refrain from giving a blanket endorsement to any political party."

LEMONS IN BACKYARD

SOUTH HILL, Md.—Ned Blades, Worcester county conservation inspector, today is enjoying the 1939 "crop" of lemons grown in the backyard of his home in nearby Girdletree. Brought from the south 10 years ago, the tree supplies the Blades household with lemon pies and lemonade annually.

Search Is Made For Clark Gable

Screen Actor And Wife Are Camping Out "Somewhere In Mexico"

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2—Clark Gable, the screen hero, and his beautiful wife, Carole Lombard, were missing "somewhere in Mexico" today.

They were believed to be camping near the Hamilton ranch, close to Ensenada, Baja California, but studio spokesman said that Otto Winkler, studio press representative, and a cameraman failed to locate them in an aerial flight over the region yesterday.

No great alarm was felt for the popular film couple, however, as Gable told studio officials that he and Garole had planned to do a little camping while on their hunting trip. They were believed to be traveling in a station wagon which Carole recently gave to Gable.

Winkler could not locate the pair when he and the cameraman flew down to the Hamilton ranch to take some pictures of them. They were not at the ranch, and Winkler learned from the Mexican ranch hands that Gable and his wife had been there but had left.

Winkler told studio officials in Hollywood that he would continue to look for Gable and Miss Lombard until he had located them.

The area in which Gable and Miss Lombard were suposed to be has been violently storm-swept in the past two days.

Although a highway runs directly from the border station at Tijuana to Ensenada and is fairly well populated, the surrounding country is a rough and desolate wilderness.

According to Winkler, the Gables should have been at the ranch when he arrived there, or, at least, should not have been very far away.

There was a possibility that the station wagon driven by the actor may have slipped off one of the rain-sodden clay roads, but studio officials felt that the couple had not met with any trouble, but had merely "holed up" in some isolated spot until weather conditions improved, or were camping by an out-of-the-way water hole.

"I know Gable can take care of his wife and himself, too," Winkler told the studio, "so I am not alarmed, although I'll keep looking for him."

He pointed out that the station wagon had a 65-gallon gasoline capacity, and carried blankets, food and cooking equipment.

Gable and Miss Lombard left last week for the Mexican hunting trip after the screen hero, who scored a smashing success as Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind", had signed a new contract with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios for a seven-year period, during which his salary will total approximately $2,000,000.

Census To Change Marker Of U. S. Population Center

LINTON, Ind., Feb. 2.—A modest limestone monument marking the mythical center of the population of the United States, stands atop a strip coal mine spoil bank about three miles northeast of Linton, but not for long.

With the completion of the 1940 decennial census, from which the "point of balance" of population is computed, the marker will be moved.

Just where the new population center will be is a matter of conjecture. Some suggest the new site may be across the Wabash River, near Hutsonville, Ill. Others say it will be Carlisle, 12 miles west of here. Still others contend the monument will go to Pleasantville.

But the general consensus seems to hold that the marker will continue its southwesterly course that it has traveled slowly for decades.

The center of population represents a point in the nation bounded by the same number of people in every direction. In other words, if the United States were a plane having no weight the legendary Atlas could most easily support the nation at the center of population, for it would also be a pivotal point of balance.

The present monument was dedicated in 1931 with appropriate ceremony. The center was established almost a year previously, at which time a marker made of coal was erected. Later, however, a nearby resident saw a more practical use for the marker and fed it to his furnace during a "cold snap."

Thus the new shaft was erected, but it is seldom visited. Only a rutted coal mine road leads to the site and it is not conducive to side trips for pleasure.

The new hub of population will be located by Prof. W. A. Cogshall, head of the University of Indiana department of astronomy. He also determined the present center.

First he must establish the center in terms of latitude and longitude. Then with a sexant and a map he finds the exact spot.

NOT ENOUGH ART OUTSIDE MUSEUMS, SAYS PROFESSOR

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal.—Art objects in Europe have been buried in war-safety zones, and American art is almost as effectively buried—in museums.

So says professor George J. Cox, chairman of the department of art, on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, who believes that art is needed every day of the week and not merely on Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

"In a good many cities, an art museum suggests a sort of aesthetic oxygen supply station, where citizens suffering from visual monoxide poisoning can get a little pure air," the professor said. "We need to freshen up the general atmosphere rather than supply more pulmotors."

Principals of art should be applied to streets, Professor Cox believes, to bring order out of the chaos of "discordant buildings shrieking billboards, jittery neons, and urgent traffic signals." At present, he declared, it is difficult to tell a beauty parlor from an undertakers, a delicatessen from a shoe shop, or a drug store from an accident."

Barrymore And Wife On Second Honeymoon

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 — Ariel and Caliban were on their second honeymoon today and according to their passionate protestations it was a case of true love.

Over in suburban Bayside, in a little private home, they were together again, John Barrymore, 58, and Elaine Barrie, 25.

And more than that, it was becoming probable that Elaine, who virtually "kidnaped" her aging hubby in a New York night club early yesterday, would get her old part back again in John's play. She will probably replace Doris Dudley in the part of the girl who gets spanked in the play.

After last night's performance in which Barrymore made several of his now famous departures from the script, John and Elaine and their party visited another night club. But Barrymore had no eyes for the entertainment. He looked at Elaine longingly and lovingly and with such devotion that the one drink he ordered was not completely disposed of.

"I know I said I was all through with sophisticated women and living in hotel rooms and was looking around for an old fashioned girl," Barrymore admitted. "But, I've decided I still like the snappy ones, too.

"Great little girl, Elaine. We've had our ups and downs. Everybody has. But she's swell."

To which Elaine assented:

"We've had our fights and maybe we will have more. But, right now we are definitely friends."

John had no idea how long this tempestuous reconciliation in his hectic marital romp with Elaine would last.

"I don't know," he admitted. "How can anybody look into the future? But hope springs eternal in the human heart."

Since opening in his play here, Barrymore and Elaine have stood Broadway on its ear. But nothing they did to Broadway will probably approach what they did to their lawyers who are now completely confused in a mess of counter-suits between John and Elaine. What the reconciliation will mean to these law suits probably only a Blackstone could know.

BRITISH CENSORS IN HONGKONG READ FIFTEEN TONGUES

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING.—Messages passing through the Hongkong central post office today have a tough job evading the careful study of Britain's censors, prepared to handle fifteen languages.

Correspondents throughout the Far East have been warned that delay can be avoided if the language of the closed letter is written on the envelope. The Postal Censorship staff boasts that swift censorship is being executed in all but the most remote languages.

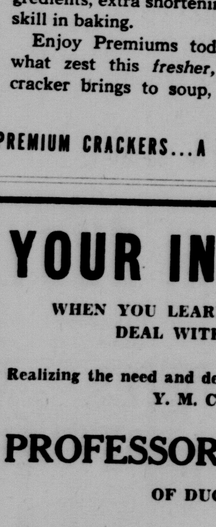

The censors, all British subjects and drawn mainly from the education department of the Crown Colony of Hongkong, can deal with correspondence in English, French, German Dutch, Portuguese, Hebrew, Czech, Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Chinese and Japanese.

CALLS MOLASSES VALUABLE IN FIGHT ON MALNUTRITION

(International News Service)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Certain types of malnutrition, particularly those in which there is a lack of iron may lead to a form of anemia which opens the way for cancer, Dr. A. C. Baxter, Illinois Health Director, warned as he urged more widespread use of foods containing usable iron.

And among these foods, Dr. Baxter listed prominently the old-fashioned standby—molasses.

"An almost forgotten old-fashioned food is about the best for providing usable iron," he said. "This food is molasses and it is still available in various grades. Our grandmothers knew the secret of delicious ginger bread, baked beans, Indian pudding, Boston brown bread, cakes, cookies and candies made from molasses."

Malnutrition in its various forms is prevalent among more than 40 per cent of America's infants and even a greater percentage of the nation's women, Dr. Baxter, said

Besides molasses, he recommended beef liver, oatmeal, apricots, eggs and raisins.

BIBLE IN OVEN

(International News Service)

ALBANY, Ore.—The small handset Bible owned by P. J. Chladek of Lebanon has been in the family for more than 500 years. According to legend, Chladek's seventeenth century ancestors hid it in a pan of dough and thrust it in the oven when soldiers, carrying out an old European custom of religious persecution for owners of "heretic" books, came to the house.

Federal Income Tax In Nutshell

When To Report Income From Salaries, Wages, Etc.

Of the millions of income-tax returns that are filed annually, the vast majority are from salaried persons and wage earners whose income is derived from personal services.

In general, compensation for personal services should be reported for taxation purposes in the year it is received or unqualifiedly made subject to demand. Compensation credited to the account of or set apart for a taxpayer, without any substantial limitation or restriction and which may be drawn upon by him at any time, is subject to tax for the year during which so credited or set apart, although not then actually reduced to possession. If the services were rendered during the year 1938, or even prior thereto, but the compensation was not received, or made unqualifiedly subject to demand, by the taxpayer until the year 1939, the entire amount is taxable in 1939, when the taxpayer is reporting on the cash receipts and disbursements basis, which is the basis used by most individuals in reporting net income.

The names of all employees to whom payments of $1,000 or over a year are made must be reported by their employers. The information returns should be made on Form 1099 accompanied by transmittal Form 1096. These returns should be filed on or before February 15, 1940 with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Returns Distribution Section, Washington, D. C.

All of the various types of compensation, unless specifically exempt by statute, should be included in the taxpayer's return of gross income, such as salaries, wages, fees, commissions, bonuses, tips, honorariums, prizes, awards, retiring allowances for past services, etc. Where services are paid for in whole or in part with something other than money, the fair market value of the thing taken in payment must be included as income. Other items subject to tax are fees received by ministers of the gospel for funerals baptisms, masses and like, services; executors' fees, directors' fees, jury fees and prizes received in contests of various kinds.

The salaries of officers and employees of the United States, including the President, judges of courts of the United States, the Vice President, and members of the House of Representatives and the United States Senate are subject to income tax.

Memorable Trip For Pastor, Wife

Rich Hill Pastor And Wife Held Up By Snow Storm, Enroute Home From Florida

Rev. and Mrs. Homer K. Miller, of the Volant and Rich Hill Presbyterian churches, have returned after a month's vacation in the Redland section of Florida, south of Miami. They had the surprising experience, enroute home, of seeing snow fall as far south as Augusta, Ga., and of running into the coldest weather the south has experienced in many years.

The pastor and his wife started home by automobile on January 22, and a trip which ordinarily would require no more than four and a half days, lasted a week. The roads became increasingly bad, and in the vicinity of Henderson, North Carolina, they were blocked by snow drifts in many places. Traffic went at a snail's pace and the Millers, after an entire day of traveling, found they had covered just 35 miles The highway was slippery and the minister's car had several skids which came to nothing but furnished the usual thrill.

College Flyers Solo At Airport

Two Additional Student Pilots From Westminster Complete Training

Despite the intense cold weather, the Westminster College flying students continue their work of learning to fly at the New Castle Airport.

According to William H. Ice, government instructor for the class of 10 from the college in the C. A. A. class, two more students have completed their solo flights, making three in the class who have completed their dual training.

Harry Shoup, of Bessemer, son of Bessemer's chief of police was one of the young men and John Westcott, Jr., of DeLancy, N. Y. is the second youth. Shoup is following in the footsteps of his father, who is already an airplane pilot.

Both college men made very nice flights, according to instructor Ice. The flights came at the conclusion of the required eight hours of dual instruction. These students will continue flying at the local airport until they have attained a total of 35 hours of solo flying.

British Army Grows Rapidly

Some 1,250,000 British Troops Are Already Under Arms Premier Says

EXPECT 2,500,000 BY END OF YEAR

By R. A. BARNETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 2 — On the basis of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's statement that 1,250,000 British troops are already under arms, military observers estimated today that by the end of the year a British army, approximately 2,500,000 strong, will be standing side by side with its French ally.

By January 1, 1941, it is claimed, the total strength of all the services with the British Empire may well be 5,000,000.

Although white man-power within the British Empire is approximately equivalent to that of Gerany, domestic defense obligations of the dominions necessitate a large number of men remaining in them. This large number, however, is many times over offset by the military might of Britain's ally in the present conflict—France.

Moreover, it is held, that in addition to having at their command the enormous resources of raw materials in the two empires, the allied nations can count on the vast native populations (non-white) within their empires. Native resolutions to this effect have been expressed often and at the moment there are large numbers of both British and French Colonial colored men on active service in France.

Poultry Raisers Of County Meet

Various Problems Of Interest To Those In Business Are Discussed

STATE COLLEGE EXPERTS SPEAK

Several hundred poultry raisers of Lawrence county met in the rooms of the Agricultural Extension Association in the Post Office Building, Wednesday for a discussion of problems affecting their particular branch of agriculture.

This was the third annual meeting of its kind under the auspices of the Association, and proved extremely interesting.

The principal speakers were: John Vandervort, poultry extension representative of Pennsylvania State College; and Dr. D. R. Markle, poultry research expert and a member of the faculty at State College, who is recognized as one of the outstanding poultry gynecists in the country.

Sessions were held both morning and afternoon, with R. N. Moose, of Wilmington township presiding as chairman for the morning session and Robert Jackson, during the afternoon.

Moving pictures showed poultry management and turkey production methods. Mr. Vandervort discussed practices which aid in keeping the poultry house dry; brooder house and range equipment; and satisfactory ranges for growing pullets; while Dr. Markle spoke on the comparative values of brooding systems; and methods of feeding layers.

During the afternoon, Mr. Moose spoke on "Eggs, from the nest to the market."

There was a period for questions, both morning and afternoon.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Robert Burns wrote something about man's inhumanity to man. Philippe Pinel, a French physician, did something about it. Pinel, son of a doctor, was born in 1745 and studied medicine. At that time, many insane patients languished in chains. These unfortunates were treated much like caged wild animals. Pinel became the apostle of humanity.

He dared officials, and removed the insane patients' chains.

He offered sympathetic and understanding treatment to the insane.

Results of his humane work attracted world-wide attention.

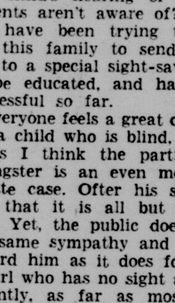

He was transferred to a much larger hospital for the insane.

He first recommended farms and workrooms for mental patients.

Pinel reformed the treatment and gave hope to the insane.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE NEARLY BLIND CHILD

Every now and then the family doctor or general practitioner comes up against a problem that is difficult to handle because he knows what is wrong and how to remedy it, but can't apply the remedy. Such a problem is bothering me now. A family I have known for years had a child who is partially blind, that is, its vision is very badly impaired.

The child's sight is so bad that it cannot read ordinary school books or do lessons properly and is falling behind in its classes. The ordinary country school hasn't teachers to give special attention to such cases, of course. Do you parents realize, by the way, how many times poor marks aren't due to stupidity or laziness of a child, but to a defect in the child's hearing or sight that parents aren't aware of?

I have been trying to arrange for this family to send the little girl to a special sight-saving school to be educated, and haven't been successful so far.

Everyone feels a great deal of pity for a child who is blind, but sometimes I think the partially blind youngster is an even more unfortunate case. Ofter his sight is so bad that it is all but useless to him. Yet, the public does not feel the same sympathy and generosity toward him as it does for the boy or girl who has no sight at all. Apparently, as far as most persons are concerned, a child is either blind or he isn't. They never seem to take the borderline into consideration.

For all practical purposes, I think any child is blind whose vision cannot be improved enough by the use of glasses to enable him to read ordinary school books, or whose eyes would be injured by reading them. Some children who see a little are in the same class as the completely blind when it comes to school, others can be taught by modified methods although not in ordinary schools That is why school systems all over United States and Canada are organizing special sight-saving classes.

Our trouble out in the country is that these classes are all held in the larger cities, and are inaccessible to many country children who should be in them.

On the other hand, I think that here in the country we have less eye trouble than city chidren have. Eyesight depends a great deal on general physical heath and it seems to me that country children have a better chance to be well physically these days. Also city children seem to be subjected to more eyestrain than country children are now.

Children's eyes were always a problem to me in the early days of my practice. Parents didn't pay a great deal of attention to a child's eyesight and any defects usually showed up first when the children went to school. However, I found also that we couldn't always depend on the teacher to detect the trouble.

Now we have fewer cases of neglected visual defects in children's hereabouts for the Red Cross maintains nurses in our outlying districts who check up on all school children periodically. Any found to be defective in any way are reported to the proper authorities and they get glasses, or have their teeth fixed, or have done for them whatever is needed.

The result of this work has been remarkable. A child will be thought stupid or lazy in school. The teacher will give him up in despair. Then the Red Cross nurse comes along, finds his eyes are bad. Right away he gets a test by a optician and is given glasses. Well, again and again, I have seen these apparently stupid children, forge to the head of their class.

Lawrence County Records Are Now Being Compiled

An interesting piece of work is being carried on in the history room of the New Castle Free Public Library. Through the co-operation of the National Youth Administration and the Lawrence County Historical Society, several young people are engaged in compiling the records of Lawrence county's history. Records have been found dating as far back as the Civil War. These youths are co-ordinating the material that has been collected and are arranging it in the files to make it easier for those who wish to look up the material compounded.

A dairy which was written by Captain Robert F. Moffatt is among the documents in the hands of Charles H. Young, attorney, president of the Historical Society and has been transcribed from the original to make it more readable for the public. The experiences of Captain Moffatt in some of the fiercest battles of the Civil War are related in his diary.

Through the courtesy of Dr. W. F. Jackson, chairman of Military Records Committee, the society has received some very valuable documents which will soon be transcribed and compiled for future use. Some of this latter information dates to the War of 1812.

The data collected and being filed contains much material concerning the World War of 1917-18. The important part taken by Lawrence county citizens in this war is reflected as one scans the numerous papers and records contained in the files.

Another public spirited gentleman, Ross Rosenberger, chairman of the Necrology Committee is at present co-ordinating much material which he now has in his possession. It will prove a very valuable asset to the society when completed.

Anyone having any information which is pertinent to Lawrence county's past, and wishes to turn it over for the files of the society may do so by calling at the library or contacting the N. Y. A. office located in the new court house annex. Ex-service men are especially urged to co-operate in this work by turning over any papers they have in their possession which may be of little importance to them, but vital to the society. An appointment can be arranged by calling 2102 at the library. This will be greatly appreciated.

Squirrels Active At Gaston Park Despite Near-Zero

With the thermometer hovering around zero, this morning, at Gaston Park, squirrels hopped through the snow seeking nuts and other food, buried beneath the snow and earth.

A couple of the little "fellows" were using a new feeding station erected by Mr. Fox, a week ago.

One squirrel sat on the limb of a small tree, with its fine bushy tail turned up its back to head, which it no doubt used as a windbreaker. Looking up into a large tree, on hearing some whining noise, a squirrel could be seen perched on a limb close to the trunk. It was bent over, and probably "had indigestion".

AROUND CITY HALL

Ten clerks have been employed and are now working in the city assessor's department, it was learned today. Each of the women work seven hours a day for 40 cents per hour. They are writing tax assessment cards and tax duplicates.

Council as a board of appeals and tax revision have heard appeals from four wards, namely, the Sixth, First, Second and Third. Appeals will be heard from Fourth ward property-owners February 4 and Fifth ward hearings will be held February 13.

Dates have not yet been designated for property-owners of the Seventh and Eighth wards to utter their appeals.

As soon as the board takes final action on the appeals the millage will be set for 1940.

Construction launched during January in the city of New Castle cost $13,875.00, according to estimates given to Neal Williams, clerk at the city bureau of building.

The permits were issued for two dwellings to cost $13,400.00; one garage to cost $200; one small building to cost $100.00 and two fences to cost $175.00.

Indications are no more persons named to police department positions will be sent to a State Motor police school for training. The rookies when named to the department will be assigned to work with veterans of the local bureau.

Trade Agreement Is Under Attack

Senator Vandenberg Would Strip State Department Of Agreement Powers

FOREIGN TRADE BOARD PROJECTED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A move to strip the state department of its trade agreement powers and set up a new federal agency to coordinate foreign trade programs was being launched in the senate by Senator Arthur H. Vanderberg (R) Michigan.

Vandenberg, frequently mentioned as a Republican presidential possibility, announced he had prepared a bill which would authorize creation of a foreign trade board.

His proposal would abolish the U. S tariff commission and transfer its functions to the trade board. Foreign trade activities of "fifty other different bureaus and departments of the government" also would be brought under jurisdiction of the proposed board, Vandenberg said.

Vandenberg's plan was announced as the administration was fighting in congress for legislation to continue its reciprocal trade agreements program.

Board To Have Tariff Power

The Michigan senator said that the new board, under his plan, would have the power to lower and increase tariffs, encourage exports through barter arrangements, and to control imports "for the purpose of protecting domestic economy."

"Speaking generally," Vandenberg declared, "it seeks to create full protection for American agriculture, industry and labor in our relations with other countries through the establishment of a responsible and efficient agency to deal with foreign commercial and financial activities.

"Such an agency is necessary if we shall realistically meet world trade conditions," Vandenberg added. "It would be doubly necessary in post-war periods of readjustment."

"The agency," Vandenberg concluded, "would be subject only to the general direction of the president and the congress. It should not be subordinated to the state department because the latter specializes in political and diplomatic contacts and is not equipped or intended to deal with problems of commerce and finance which must be handled on a basis of domestic needs."

Bullitt expects to leave the French capital February 3. Hull did not know whether he would come by boat or by trans-Atlantic airplane. The primary purpose of the ambassador's visit to the United States will be for a general exchange of information, according to the secretary.

Hoover Predicts Quite Long War

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—While consulting with city and state leaders of the nation-wide Finnish relief campaign, former President Herbert Hoover Thursday predicted a "long war" in Europe unless peace comes within the next three months.

"And I'm not optimistic about peace in 90 days," declared the former chief-executive who came to this city after visiting Chester, Pa. He said the campaign drive, of which he is national head, already has netted $1,100,000, which he has sent to Finland, and that $200,000 in New York and more money elsewhere is now waiting to be sent.

"I don't know of any fund," he said, "that has had such a response. Nearly every labor union in the country has an organized relief fund. The newspapers have given us extraordinary support, $400,000 having been raised through them."

At Chester, Hoover lauded that community as the site of the first Finnish settlement in America.

Three Condemned Slayers To Appeal Sentences To Board

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 2—The commutation pleas of three men, sentenced to die in the electric chair in a triple execution set for February 26, will be heard at the next session of the state board of pardons on February 20, the board announced today. In addition, the board will hear 65 other pleas for commutations and pardons during its two day session.

The three seeking to have their death sentences commuted to life imprisonment include William A Yeager, Montour county slayer of a state policeman who was killed while attempting to serve a paper on Yeager. Yeager was originally sentenced to die on September 25, 1937.

The other two are Andrew Schurtz, Northumberland county slayer of a WPA foreman in April 1939, and William Kelly, Philadelphia, who slew a policeman during a holdup of a jewelry store in March 1938.

HULL AND SOVIET AMBASSADOR WILL HAVE CONFERENCE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — A conference which may have an important bearing on future relations between the United States and the Soviet Union was held Thursday between Secretary of State Hull and Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky.

The Soviet envoy, who said he called at the state department at his own initiative, was closeted with Hull for more than a half hour.

SENATE SUBWAY IS MODERNIZED

WASHINGTON.—The world's shortest subway system is now also the most modern.

The famous little 750-foot two-car line which shuttles Senators back and forth between the Capitol and the Senate Office building now can boast of the most up-to-date equipment of any rapid transit line in the nation.

Because Senators and Capitol attaches complained that line's 21-year-old monoralled cars drowned out all conversation with operating noises, Capitol transit authorities called in Goodrich engineers to equip the line with the newly-developed "rubber sandwich wheels" now being used on latest New York, Washington and other rapid transit streamliners to deaden noise and absorb jolts. With Congress in session, the renovated lines is now carrying some 2,000 passengers daily on 125 round trips.

League For Peace And Democracy Being Disbanded

Claim Situation Created By European War Is Cause For Disbanding

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The American League for Peace and Democracy, an organization claiming 14,000 members in 117 communities, which has been charged before the Dies committee with being under communist domination, disbanded today.

The situation created by the outbreak of the European war was given as the reason in a brief statement to the press.

But Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor of Christian ethics at Union Theological seminary, the league's retiring president, wrote the league branches to "carry on" their activities in defense of "democratic rights and to keep this country out of war."

Dr. Ward, in a private address at a testimonial dinner in his honor, vehemently denied charges that the league was communist controlled; charged the Dies committee and the press with creating "the communist myth; criticized movements to aid Finland against Russia and attacked President Roosevelt and the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.

Among the messages of felicitations received by Dr. Ward on his retirement was one from Earl R. Browder, head of the American Communist party recently convicted of passport fraud, who had previously described the league as a "transmission belt'" for communism.

The recent breaking up of the "United Front" was understood to have been given by Dr. Ward as a contributing cause for the league's demise. In his final address Dr. Ward admitted communists had contributed to the league's treasury but charged the Dies committee "distorted the facts".

Convention Ends At Columbus, O.

U. M. W. Delegates Return To Homes After Sessions In Ohio Capital

By J. LEE ALLISON BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 2 — Their task completed, 2400 delegates to the United Mine Workers' golden jubilee convention left Columbus today for their homes in 27 states to report to their locals that their accomplishments included voting, in effect, to sever political relations with the Roosevelt administration.

The convention, which was highlighted by criticism of new deal agencies, policies and leaders, ended late yesterday, when UMW President John L. Lewis in his farewell speech warned that labor would "hold to strict account" any statesman who sought to involve America in a foreign conflict.

Lewis avoided any direct reference in his closing address to actions and speeches criticizing the Democratic administration he once supported ardently. Indirectly, however, he declared that the UMW would continue its attempts to play a promirent role in any national drama involving the welfare of workers and the unemployed.

Only a routine business session of the union's International Executive Board remained on the program.

The final resolution adopted by delegates proposed that the union endeavor to establish a uniform six-hour day and 30-hour week, and seek a higher wage scale throughout the nation when the present contract with coal operators expires in March, 1941.

Also on the last day, delegates overwhelmingly voted down a proposal to establish a uniform strike benefit fund.

Missing Plane Is Located In South America

Plane With Five Americans Aboard Located In State Of Rio Grande In Brazil

(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 2 — Forced down by lack of fuel, a missing plane with five Americans aboard was found today near Santa Victoria Palmar in the state of Rio Grande Do Sul, according to officials of the Brazilian Civil Aeronautic Service.

The plane left Montevideo, Uruguay, Wednesday en route to Rio De Janeiro by easy stages but was reported overdue at Porto Alegre, Brazil. Military planes conducted a search.

James W. Allen, of Chicago, piloted the craft, which carried no radio. Passengers were Mrs. Don Wallace and Miss Frieda Zylstra, both of Chicago, Mrs. June Sprau of Lake Forest, Ill., and S. M. Bowers of Benton Harbor, Mich.

"Kiss Of Death" Is Given Winter

Philadelphia Groundhog Comes Out Of Home In Zoo—Fails To See Shadow

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2. — Joe Groundhog, of the Philadelphia zoo, gave winter the "Kiss of Death" today.

Emerging from his lair on the traditional day of reckoning, Joe didn't see his shadow, because there was no sun. "Winter is on its way out," he told reporters before holing up again.

And thus Joe played right into the hands of human prognosticators who disdainfully aver groundhogs "don't know what it's all about." Scornfully the weather predictors pointed out that Joe's forecast was directly opposite to that given out by the groundhog in Punxsutawney which took a look at his shadow and scurried back into his hole believing, according to folklore, that six more weeks of winter lie ahead.

Meanwhile, Joe's sister, Susie took a plane for New York with her keeper. She, like Joe, didn't see her shadow and she is going to spread the glad tidings that winter's over in a nation-wide radio broadcast this afternoon.

"She'll make that Punxsutawney fellow awfully sore by contradicting him," laughed the merry weatherman.

Holding Life Sacred

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Creation of Eve

"Ye were bought with a price: glorify God therefore in your body." I Cor. 6:20.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb 4 is Genesis 1:27-31; 1 Corinthians the Golden Text being 1 Corinthians 6:20, "Ye were bought with a price; glorify God therefore in your body.")

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created He him, made and female created He them.

"And God blessed them and God said unto them, Be fruitful and multiply and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea and the fowl of the air; and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

"And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed which is upon the face of the earth and every tree in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed, to you it shalll be for meat.

"And to every beast of the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat and it was so."

Made In God's Image

So read Genesis, the first book of the Bible, verses 27-30, and the subject of the lesson is "Holding Life Sacred, a Principle of Temperate Living." Man is made in the image of God; therefore, he should behave like a God-like being as much as possible. He should take great care of his wonderful body, keeping it clean physically and spiritually. He should use it with great care, keeping it fit with work and play, keeping his mind clear with good thoughts and not eating too much or drinking too much or otherwwise abusing himself.

All this should be part of the rebirth of a Christian when he is converted to Christ. Whatever he has been doing he should then live healthfully to make his humble body a fitting temple for the Living God. "Or know ye not that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you, which ye have from God" and ye are not your own," says Paul in his letter to the Corinthians. "For ye were bought with a price," he continues "glorify God therefore in your body."

It is through our bodies that we do everything and enjoy the things of the world—its beauty we see with our eyes; its fruits and other foods, give pleasure to our sense of taste; its music, bird songs, the sound of water falling, etc., we hear with our ears; sweet odors of fields, woods, and flowers, we smell. And we touch the good earth, soft fabrics and many things that bring us pleasures. It is with our hands that we paint, make mucis, do work, that brings us joy and profit. It is with our bodies that we enjoy life and glorify God, so we should keep them holy and clean for His sake.

Bible Tells Of Heaven and Earth

The Bible talks about heaven and earth and the life to come. But it also talks about homes, work, eating, drinking, friendships and our bodies. "Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things," says Paul to the Corinthians. "But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a cast-away."

Whether you be a preacher or not, a Christian, even a child, should set an example to his fellows—not a boastful example, but one that is much more needed and acceptable One that is simply right living with "malice toward none, and charity toward all." This will please our Father who art in Heaven, as Paul said; "For ye are the temple of the living God" as God hath said I will dwell in them and I will be their God and they shall be my people.

"Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you.

"And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty."

Two changes were announced today by the county commissioners. David Felton, night janitor has been replaced by Orrin Koonce and Miss Blanche Davy has been appointed a clerk in the permanent registration office.

Mrs. Edith Hileman, deputy chief clerk in the registration office resigned effective February 1 and her place as deputy has been taken by Mrs. Alice Hays. Miss Davy assumed her new duties on Thursday.

Saturday is the last day to file partial and final accounts in the office of Register and Recorder Orville Potter.

January was about up to average in the number of dog licenses taken out in the county treasurer's office, 3,941 being issued. Ordinarily the month shows about 4,000 licenses. This is less than half of the dogs in the county but more owners will be in later, unless they are arrested in the meantime.

Saturday is also the first day to secure signatures to petitions for offices to be filled this year. Among them are United States Senator, Congressman, State Senator, two members of the House of Representatives in the General Assembly, and county committeemen.

A number of petitions are already taken out and Saturday morning the Battle of Fountain Pen will start.

In the office of Prothonotary John A. Edgar several actions were filed Thursday.

William T. Houk files a suit against Phillip Kelly for $500 damages for an automobile accident alleged to have happened August 12, 1939 on the New Castle-Portersville-Zelienople road. About five o'clock in the afternoon Houk alleges he was driving down the road when a truck came out from the road running from Rural Hill School house to Eckerd's bridge. The car and truck came together damaging Houk's car considerably he alleges.

Marion S. Hoover, of New Castle files a libel in divorce from her husband, Howard B. Hoover, alleging cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities to person. They were married February 24, 1923.

George D. Lawson, of New Castle asks a divorce from his wife Eleanor B. Lawson, alleging adultery. They were married December 23, 1929 and Lawson alleges the adultery started about December 1938.

Charles C. Harry and John Lee Buck of Mercer file a damage suit against Jeanne F. Ferguson of Wilkinsburg, Pa., in the amount of $5,929.67. The plaintiffs allege that on November 3, 1939 they were driving on highway 956 between New Castle and New Wilmington at about five o'clock in the afternoon. As they approached the wide bend at the intersection leading to Fayette, Harry who was driving, says he saw a car coming out the other road towards the turn at a high rate of speed. He claims he stopped his car and that the car of Miss Ferguson crashed into his. For damages to the car and to the men a total of $5,929.67 is asked. Harry asks $869.67 for himself and Buck asks $5,060.

County commissioners George H. Bolinger, William R. Walton and J. F. Travers are in accord with the plan of the New Castle chapter of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association to widen highway 422 from the Ohio line to the Butler county line. Their joint statement was "we are ready to co-operate with the state in any reasonable fashion to get this road widened. The road should be improved both for safety and better movement of traffic."

FAMILY CLASHES
(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—Conflicts between parent and child are more evident in modern society today than they were under primitive conditions, according to Dr. Kingsley Davis, associate professor of sociology at Pennsylvania State. The cause, he said, was the rapid change of life today which leads to "arrogance and frustration in the young, fear and envy in the old."

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Johnstons See Heavy Snow On Southern Trip

Seventh Ward People Delayed Near Richmond, Va., By Heavy Snow Fall

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnston, of West Clayton street, have arrived home from a visit with their son, Hallet H. Johnston, member of the Second Air Squadron of the United States Army at Langley Field, Va. They were in the South for the past week, visiting at Richmond, Va., Hampton Roads, Va., Langley Field and Washington, D. C.

Unusual weather conditions of the past week somewhat altered their plans and they were forced to remain in Richmond for an extra day, dut to sixteen inches of snow, which proving unusual in that vicinity, took more time and care than in the northern and eastern states to clear. Street car lines and buses were halted as the cities did not have facilities with which to clear the snow packed lanes and main thoroughfares.

During their stay at Langley Field, the couple viewed the many planes which the field possesses and also the fine flying equipment and an extra honor was bestowed upon them by Private Johnston's superiors, as the lights of the field were displayed in the evening, making a very pretty scene and one worth remembering.

DITCHES CLEANED

State highway department workmen have completed a job of cleaning the ditches along Atlantic avenue. They have removed ice and snow and freed the ditches for the free passage of water.

Father Ippolito Fractures Arm

Accident Happens While Father Is Attending Sick Calls; Is Confined In Hospital

The Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito, pastor of St. Lucy's church, suffered a broken right arm late Thursday morning, when returning from a sick call.

In some manner, Father Ippolito slipped on the sidewalk of the Jameson Memorial hospital grounds, falling on his right arm, fracturing it in five places. He is confined in the New Castle, hospital, and is reported to be resting comfortably.

No mass will be observed at the church on Saturday morning, but the usual masses will be heard on Sunday, possibly with an out-of-town priest in charge.

MRS. E. C. BURDGE ENTERTAINS CLASS

McCoy Bible class members of the Mahoning Methodist church held a meeting on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. E. C. Burdge, North Cedar street. Co-hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. E. M. Johnston and Mrs. Sam Fowler.

Mrs. William Moss was in charge of the meeting. Games of checkers and fancywork were the main diversions during the hours. Plans were made by the class to co-operate with the city-wide "go-to-church" movement.

The Valentine motif was used when the luncheon was prepared and served by the hostesses. Next meeting will be held on Thursday, March 7.

SENTINEL CLASS HAS MEETING IN CHURCH

Fred Thompson was host for the meeting of the Sentinel Bible class of the Madison Avenue Christian church, when they gathered in the church basement, Thursday evening.

Plans were outlined by the group, for a chili supper to be held in the church on February 15. A ping pong tournament was played during the hours.

A delicious luncheon was served by the host, aided by Mary Ringer and Myrtice Jones.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

William Kubinsky, North Liberty street, is reported to be getting along nicely at his home where he is confined by a broken leg, sustained in a fall on the ice a short time ago.

Mrs. H. G. Tetlow, Sixth street, is vacationing in Tampa, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johns, Cherry street, are vacationing at Tampa, Florida.

Mrs. M. C. Adams, West Madison avenue, is able to be out following a brief illness.

Eddie, son of Mrs. C. W. Charlebois, of Youngstown, O., who at present are living at the E. M. Johnston home, West Clayton street, who suffered severe eye injuries recently when he ran a nail file in his eye, is showing improvement.

Merchants Watch For Check Passer

A close look-out was being maintained by the Seventh Ward merchants on Thursday for a "bad check passer".

According to reports a bad check, which was claimed to have been a forgery, was passed on a North Cedar street merchant Thursday.

HI-TRY SOCIETY

Betty Lee Clark will entertain members of the Hi-Try Missionary society of the Madison Avenue Christian church, at her home on West Madison avenue, tonight.

WATER TURNED OFF

Residents of Second street were without water for a portion of the morning today, while repairs were being made on water mains in the district.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Rev. Hugh Gunn of Princeton Theological Seminary will deliver the sermon on Sunday morning at the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church.

"Small Town Romeo," a three act comedy production will be presented by a cast from Epworth league of the Mahoning Methodist church, on February 29 and March 1.

Double-header freight trains are becoming a common sight to the ward residents. Hardly a day passes, but what one or more trains, requiring the use of two engines goes through the district.

Ice skating rink of the Seventh Ward Progressive club on South Ashland avenue, is again ready for flooding. Although there is still a coating of ice on the rink, another layer of ice would make the rink a lot smoother for skating.

An automobile was parked along the street on Thursday afternoon with the following sign painted on one of the windows: "For Sale, Cheap—Silent Motor."

Mrs. Troutman Dies At Butler

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 2.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Troutman, 87, widow of J. Henry Troutman, pioneer merchant, and prominent in church and civic affairs in Butler for many years, died at her home, 422 North Main street Thursday.

Born in Carrollton, O., she came to Butler following her marriage to Mr. Troutman in 1881 and since that time had been known for her philanthropic work in the city.

She was instrumental in promoting the Butler County Hospital and the Butler Public Library, and served many years as a director of those organizations. She was a member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, at one time its organist and choir director.

It was through her efforts that the Reverend Mr. Kantzer, Lutheran minister in India, was recalled and trained as a physician, returning to India as a medical missionary. Mrs. Troutman paid for his training.

In her honor, a girls' dormitory at Capital University, Columbus, O., was named Troutman Hall.

Funeral services will be held at her late home, Saturday afternoon.

Favor Apostoli To Win Battle

Bettina Will Try Hard Tonight To Defeat Coast Bell Hop, In Return Match

FINE SUPPORTING CARD ANNOUNCED

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Those of us who like our mayhem unhampered by the niceties of refined warfare will be in Madison Square Garden tonight when Melio Bettina, a heavily-hirsuted gent from Beacon, N. Y. makes another strenuous effort to alter the collar-ad make-up of Fred Apostoli, the bouncing bellhop from San Francisco

This pair of pier six brawlers staged a gory battle a few weeks ago and at the finish both were so weak a Singer midget could have flattened either with a slap. The sadistically inclined customers demanded an encore and so the 15-round shindig tonight is the answer.

Apostoli drew a hair-line decision in their first meeting and the odds are 6 to 5 he will be favored again tonight. The more erudite members of the fistic fraternity tell us Freddy developed an inferiority complex after absorbing two lickings at the hands of Billy Conn but they also assure us that the victory over Bettina restored his confidence and they expect him to stiffen the Beaconite tonight.

Fine Supporting Card

Both, twice beaten by the aforesaid Conn, are fighting for 20 per cent each and the right to a third meeting with Conn for the light heavyweight title.

This, then, is a key fight in Mike Jacob's plans for the future but not more so than the 10-round semi-final which will find Sammy Angott of Pittsburgh fighting Pete Lello of Chicago 10 rounds for the right to take a shot at Lou Ambers' lightweight crown. Both lads have shown enough to warrant the belief they might do a William Tell if given a shot at that crown.

Angott is a 3 to 1 choice but those odds appear to be away out of line and at that price many will take Lello.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Charles Howard now has a three-year-old for the $50,000 Santa Anita derby February 22, having purchased for $20,000, Mioland from H. W. Ray of the Hawthorn stable. Howard also has Kayak II and Seabiscuit for the Santa Anita handicap March 22. Mioland, Oregon-bred, is a son of Mio D'Arezzo and Iolanda.

Andy Wertz, welterweight, who fought here as an amateur, will make his professional debut in Youngstown, February 6. He has been matched by Promoter Al Zill to oppose Woody Boord of Uniontown in a preliminary bout.

Lawrence County Sportsmen's council, of which Harold S. Parker of Ellwood City is president, will stage a fox hunt at 2 p. m. Saturday in the vicinity of the game reserve, Hell's Hollow. Hunters are not permitted to possess rifles and are to meet at Center church. One week from Saturday a Butler-Mercer and Lawrence county fox hunt will start from Pryor's station, near Portersville.

Ambridge High Here Tonight In Floor Game

New Castle High Hopes To Avenge Defeat Suffered At Hands Of League Leaders

RESERVE TEAMS IN PRELIMINARY

New Castle Hgh School basketball team, virtually out of the Section Three championship running this year, with three defeats, will face the league leading Ambridge High quintet at the Washington High floor tonight. In the preliminary game at 7:15 o'clock the two reserve teams of the competing schools will tangle.

With the recent 30 to 24 defeat at Ambridge still fresh in their minds the Red and Black tossers will make every effort tonight to wipe out that setback. If they succeed they will have the honor of being the first Section Three team to accomplish this trick.

Seven In Row

Ambridge High has won seven games in a row and will be out to make it eight tonight. The Ambridge team will have the same lineup intact that defeated New Castle at Ambridge. The Valleyites did not lose a man at the semester. Their most recent win was over Beaver Falls High 22 to 21.

Jurkowski, a forward, is the big point getter on the Ambridge High team. He will be the man to watch. Another marked man will be Narkevic a guard who recently hit for 11 points in the New Brighton game. Against Ellwood he hit for nine points. Kamm the center is also a fine floor man and a high scorer.

Start Same Lineup

It was indicated by Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh today that he will start the same lineup, that he did at New Brighton the other night. Gennock and Cowden will get the forward posts, with Bucci at center, and Christopher and Thomas at the guards. Kelly will be the first string sub.

While New Castle and Ambridge are tangling here in the highlight on the night's card the Ellwood City High team will be down at Beaver Falls and New Brighton will be at Butler.

Eyes of the Section will be focused on New Castle, where the big question will be—Can New Castle upset the Ambridge team?

Sports World Ramblings

Local sports cocktail—Home for a few days rest before buckling down to second semester studies at Cornell University, Forest "Fuzzy" Raffele, one of the foremost sports page gazers in the city, gave out the following advance info on the Big Red's grid prospects come the next pigskin merry-go-round: "At a banquet, a couple of nights back, Cornell awarded 30 football letters. Only 11 of the recipients were seniors." Raffele still maintains that Cornell could have defeated Tennessee or Southern California last season...Andy Wertz, who displayed his pugilistic talent here many times, makes his professional debut in Youngstown, February 6.

Idle thoughts: In 218 days, local sports fans will be first nighting at Taggart Stadium where the New Casle High gridders unfurl their wraps in quest of their first 1940 victory. The date, Friday, September 6. The foe, Grove City....The whereabouts of Ralph "Scooter" Day continues to remain a mystery in the local sports colony...Emmett Rocco, who crawled into the same ring with the country's greatest fighters, a little more than a decade ago, is serving as a police desk sergeant in Ellwood City, his home town.

"No Blackbirds in sight"—Getting a tip that Clair Bee, basketball coach deluxe at Long Island University, was in this locality Wednesday, principally to scout Duquesne University and look for some tall court material, this ink-slinger immediately ordered a "look-out man" to keep close watch in New Wilmington. Evidently, Bee did not learn that one Paul Minner parks his hat and coat in the college town. If he had known, Bee would have junked everything and hied out to shake hands with the sky-scraping localite. The look-out man reported: "No Blackbirds in sight."

Lombardi a genuine man—When Ernie Lombardi took up light housekeeping in Cincy during the fourth game of the world series, he offered no alibis. He accepted columns and columns of criticism, never uttering a word. Only a few nights ago, in Philly, someone stepped in to share part of the blame. We mean Bucky Walters, the other end of the battery involved in the sleeping drama. Walters arose to make a speech during a banquet and brought out a point practically every sports scribe in the land overlooked. He said: "I should have been backing up the catcher instead of going to third and then joining the spectators." Lombardi probably realized all this—yet he kept quiet. This is a sample of some of the athletes participating in baseball—a genuine man.

Diamond snapshots—Benny Mc-Coy will likely go down as the first and only free agent to receive such a staggering sum for attaching his name to a contract. Diamond moguls will likely get together and iron the situation, find a way of eliminating such high bidding.... Connie Mack recently predicted that the Yanks will finish third. The first and second place winners? Connie didn't say....Everytime the Pirates turn on the switch for a nocturnal game, the cost involved—$700.

Pennsylvania Club Enjoys Fine Dinner Thursday Evening

Thirty Members Present, Discuss Happenings At Canadian Camp

Thirty members of the Pennsylvania Fishing club, one of the oldest in existence, gathered at a downtown restaurant, last night and enjoyed a chicken dinner. The event started at 6:30.

But for the fact that there was a conflicting banquet last night, more members would have been present, it was announced.

Following the serving of the chicken T. H. "Tommy" Hitchcock, president of the club took over the floor and called on several of those present for short speeches, and they mostly had to do with their experiences at the camp at Georgian Bay last summer. Many humorous incidents of the past year were recalled.

President Hitchock announced that the dates for the opening of the summer camp at Sans Souci will be set at the 44th annual meeting of the club to be held in April. The evening hours after the business meeting were spent informally.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The following statement on the arrest of James R. Young in Tokyo was issued today by Joseph V. Connolly, president of International News Service:

"Every effort is being made to determine full details of the charges made against Mr. Young by authorities in Tokyo.

"Until such details are received, the best refutation of the allegations continues to lie merely in citing Mr. Young's well-established reputation for accuracy and impartiality in his news coverage throughout a decade of service in the far east.

"All steps are being taken to ensure that Mr Young is adequately defended when his case is brought to trial. He staked his reputation for accuracy and truth upon his dispatches and a fair judgment of the case cannot fail to result in complete exoneration."

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

And then we occasionaly hear one say . . . "the good old days". Of course, we can't remember what the good old days were like, but one can get a good idea by visiting an antique shop. Any one will do. . . they are all alike . . . filled with more or less junk (the wife hasn't as yet developed a yen for antiques). Take a look around . . . Look over there on that table at coal oil lamps with their bellied shape chimneys . . . no wonder people had trouble with their eyes . . . and the trouble of keeping them clean and filled with oil . . . Give me a modern electric light with a flick of the switch . . . good light means better eyes in later years. And over here we find a little white porcelain bowl with a handle . . . give me today . We agree that the glassware of that time was beautiful, and the china was decorated beautifully . . . but have you seen some of the china that is on the market today and made right here in New Castle And when you call for the doctor . . . isn't it better to pick up a little black instrument called a telephone and hear the doctor say, "I'll be right there", than to hitch up the old mare and ride several miles to get the doctor . . . They might have been good old days; we all like to look back over the years and pick out pleasant things to remember, but we say, give us 1940 and some day we, too, can say, "Those were the good old days".

The whole town is gaga over the thought that soon they will have the opportunity of seeing "Gone with the Wind" uncut. It is a nice thought, but we would like to mention that it might be considered by some as very unladylike to take a bag of peanuts to such a show. Eat before you go if you must eat that day, or maybe a late snack, but no peanuts or popcorn . . . Rhett Butler might not like it.

Some years ago a movement was started that seemed o. k. (now not apparent) . . . that idea was: a telephone was installed on telephone poles along the highway and were to be used to call the highway patrol in cases of emergency. Why wouldn't it work today to help control traffic problems and maybe save a life?

* * *

Tomorrow is the night of the big dance at the Field Club . . . here's hoping that your stiff dress collar doesn't make your neck too sore. Use a little vanishing cream before you go . . . it sometimes is a help.

STOCKS

Stock Market Is Generally Firm

Trading However Continues Small—Price Changes Are Moderate

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The stock market was generally firm today, though trading continued small and most price changes were moderate.

A few exceptions among the steels and mail order stocks made good gains, and the trading was featured by strong spots among low-priced shares.

National Steel was up nearly 2 points, and U. S. Steel and Bethlehem gained close to a point. Montgomery Ward jumped 1 point, but Sears lagged.

Motors and aircraft stocks also were higher, with the latter class up ½ point to almost a point. Large blocks of Continental Motors came out of the tape at higher prices.

Coppers were mixed, as were utilities. Rails made small gains. Oils were steady. Elsewhere prices were little changed.

Cotton added 40 cents a bale to yesterday's gain. Grains were steady. The foreign exchanges were soft.

New Deal Economy Talk Another Move To Hoodwink Public

(By ROGER W. BABSON)
(Copyright, 1940, Publishers Financial Bureau)

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 2.—It is going full blast again! The familiar seeds of New Year economy, budget-balancing, pay-as-you-go talk are being sown. As usual, the June harvest will be a big deficit, no real economies, another attempt to persecute business. This year's economy talk makes me sadder than ever. The sheer hypocrisy, the brazen effrontery on budgetary and fiscal matters shocks me. How simple it is to hoodwink the public on finances—and it has been done shamelessly for eight years.

BABSON

The New Deal rode into Washington on an economy platform. "I ask you very simply to assign to me the task of reducing the annual operating expenses of your government . . . . . —"It is my pledge and promise that rigid government economy shall be enforced by a stern and unremitting government policy of living within our income . . . ." Thus spoke Candidate Roosevelt in 1932. No promises could have been more completely shattered than these. President Roosevelt promptly doubled spending. As his eighth consecutive budget deficit went to Congress last month, his "rigid economies" had succeeded in doubling the nation's debt.

Economy Hopes Fade

Every January there has been much talk on economy, drastic paring down of expenses, cutting appropriations to the bone. Each January there is talk behind the scenes about the need for new taxes. Then late each session a huge deficiency bill is railroaded through. Late each session heat is put on the tax committee to prevent any increase in taxes except on big corporations and millionaires. Each year the national debt gets bigger. Each year there is less and less hope the budget will ever be balanced, that "rigid economy" can ever be practiced in public places.

Worst of all, however, is 1940. This is an election year. No one ever expects Congress to be economy-minded in an election year. Congress was economy-minded last year, but the Administration was tooth and nail against economy. Now, what does the Administration do? The President, knowing Congress will oppose direct economy and will fight new taxes, harps on economy, cries about the need to put defense on a pay-as-you-go basis, brings out the familiar—but still effective—bromides about balancing the budget.

Why The Sudden Concern?

It is not necessary to discuss this demand of the President for economy. Most everybody sees through that. But this pay-as-you-go defense is another matter. (A recent Gallup Poll showed that 58 per cent of the voters favored such a policy.) It seems ridiculous to me that the voters should suddenly become concerned about saddling the cost of a billion-dollar defense program on future generations when they have cheerfully allowed the Administration to borrow untold billions to squander on plowing up cotton, raking leaves, and destroying little pigs.

The point that bothers me is that the Administration, if backed by popular approval, may try to force new taxes on Congress this year. Nearly five hundred Congressmen must be reelected this year. Few of them will vote for the right kind of a tax in election year. They will not hand their opponents a ready-made, bang-up, vote-getting issue on a silver platter. Under great pressure (which I am not forecasting will be brought to bear) they might well enact a new tax but it will be the wrong kind of a tax—another tax to discourage new employers and to force existing employers out of business.

Good Taxes And Bad Taxes

The right kind of a tax would encourage everyone to work harder, to produce more, to earn more. Such a tax means a broadening of the income tax base. Every voter would then know that when he cast his ballot for a spendthrift Congressman his vote would hit his own pocket-book—not just Henry Ford's, J. P. Morgan's, Alfred Sloan's. Putting this kind of tax bill through in 1940, however, would be politically impossible. Instead, the discussion is centering around a "super-tax" on those already pay income taxes. Ten to fifteen per cent is the figure talked about. How many new projects will this super-tax squelch? How many expansion plans will it pigeonhole? How many jobs will it nip in the bud?

This "super-tax" would raise havoc with our current upswing. Big income taxes have hurt the country and the unemployed more than they have ever helped them. Here is an interesting tabulation:

Year	National Income	Peak Tax Rate
1921	$58,200,000,000	73
1922	61,100,000,000	58
1923	69,300,000,000	58
1924	71,900,000,000	46
1925	76,500,000,000	25
*	* * *	*
1939	70,000,000,000	79

Is it merely a coincidence that national income (which after all is mainly workers' income) soared from 1921 to 1925, while the peak tax dropped from 73 to 25 per cent?

Risks Too Great

Today's top rate is back to 79 per cent. And there are state and inheritance taxes to boot! Maybe that is why national income can't buck through the $70,000,000,000 figure, why government receipts are far below government expenses. In effect, the government's tax policies mean that a wealthy business man can no longer afford to take business chances. A $200,000 loss this year, for instance, can be recovered only after four successive years of $200,000 profits! Voters must earn that the cards are not only stacked against the big business man but also against the jobless workers whom he might employ. Let us be honest and recognize the facts!

MOST INTELLIGENT BEAST

(International News Service)

HAMLIN, Ia.—Oxen are "among the most intelligent of beasts," according to Clarence Davis, a farmer who lives near Hamlin.

Davis operates and oversees a 127½-acre farm belonging to his father, Anthony Davis, and uses a yoke of oxen for ordinary farm chores. It never takes more than a week to break oxen to drive, Davis asserted. He breaks them when they are two years old, works them for two years and then markets them.
